*Willoughby (Willibie in our records)

Hon. Francis Willoughby, Deputy-Governor had a son, Nehemiah b. 1611, June 18 who lived in Charlestown and Salem. His youngest son was John, born 1688, Dec. 11 probably the father of "John, b. 1707, Dec. 25, who m. 1735, March 27, Anna Chamberlain, dau. of John, and lived in Billerica until 1743, southwest of Nutting's pond. He removed to Hollis, and d. there 1793, Feb. 2. :

Ch. (of John & Anna)

-John, b. 1735, Dec. 24; was one of the pioneer company who settled Plymouth, N. H., 1762.

He spent a long life there;

'elder' of the church and deacon for 67 years ; d. 1834, June 22. At his funeral his pastor, Rev. George Punchard, said that 'every remembrance of him was pleasant and honorable.' He m., 2d, 1774, June 28, in Hollis, N. H., Elizabeth Sprake, dau. of Nicholas. *(Comment: I believe the mention of the second marriage to E. Sprake, daughter of Nicholas, may actually reference this John's father, 1707 John. One World Tree has him married this woman (name Sprague) after the death of Anna Chamberlain, his first wife, In "Hollis, New Hampshire: Town History to 1879," there is this marriage entry: "1774, June 28, John Willoughby of Hollis, and Elizabeth Sprake of Billerica." In 1774, Deacon John Willoughby had been in Plymouth for over a decade and furthermore, his wife, Azubah Wheeler did not die until 1815. ~Sherry Bivin)
