Fifty-third Kentucky Mounted Infantry.

This regiment was organized in the fall of 1864, at Paris, Ky. The men belonged to that section of the state. Clinton J. True was the colonel and W. C. Johnson, lieutenant-colonel. In 1861 Col. True was a captain in the 20th Ky. Infantry. In June, 1863, he left the 20th to become colonel of the 40th Ky. Infantry, being organized at that time for twelve months' service. Then, in the summer of 1864, upon the expiration of the term of the 40th, Col. True entered upon the work of raising another regiment for the service. In the official report of Col. Simpson, chief engineer in charge of the defensive structures at various points in Kentucky, of date October 13, 1864, he says: "Speaking of the defenses along the line of the Kentucky Central railroad, he is pleased to learn that the 53d Ky. Infantry is to take the places of some other
