 *Wilson—Capt. Archibald, a soldier of the Revolution, b. in Shenandoah Co., Va., June 13, 1749, d. near Newark, O., Nov. 27, 1814.
 He was a magistrate under the crown, but on Jan. 12, 1776, took an oath of allegiance to the cause of the colonists, the document being at present in the possession of a descendant. In March, 1806, he settled upon a portion of the "Wilson Section" near Newark, now on Buena Vista Road, in a "log cabin built by the spring." He "brought from Va. a willow sprout which he planted by the spring," says an old record, and it may be interesting to know it still flourishes, shading the ever abundant flow of clear cold water that runs into a trough by the roadside where hundreds of people stop during the summer to water their horses. Near this spot he died and was buried in the "family lot" on the hill top, but was transferred to Cedar Hill Cemetery "Mr. Wilson was an enterprising man of affairs and much given to lead in all movements tending to subserve public interests." He m. (1) Ann Claypool
